

CORNER STONE IS LAID TODAY

Office Building Of The House Of Representatives Was Officially Begun.

ROOSEVELT MADE NOTABLE SPEECH

All Washington In Gala Attire For The Occasion--Elaborate Ceremony Is Performed Today.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Washington, D. C., April 14.—Seldom has the national capital witnessed a more brilliant and distinguished assemblage than was gathered on the square facing the plaza between the capitol and the library of congress this afternoon, when, with simple but highly impressive ceremony, President Roosevelt laid the corner stone for the new office building of the house of representatives. The program of exercises was almost identical with that carried out more than a century ago when President Washington laid the foundation stone for the capitol building. In both instances the ceremonies were under the auspices of the Masonic grand lodge, of which President Washington was acting grand master and of which President Roosevelt is a member.

The Visitors. Occupying seats arranged upon the floor of the new building and immediately back of the president's stand, which was completely covered in red, white and blue bunting and decorated with American flags, were the members of the cabinet, diplomatic corps, senators, the United States supreme court, governors of several states, prominent army and naval officers and other invited guests. The house had adjourned for the occasion and its members were there in a body. The high wooden fence which had partly surrounded the foundation of the building was torn away so as to afford the uninvited public a view of the ceremony. The whole ceremony was most brilliant and all who witnessed it were deeply impressed. The surrounding streets were thronged with persons who had gathered to witness the event.

Heralded with Music. The arrival of the chief participants in the ceremony was heralded by a cheer from the assemblage. The Marine band escorted the federal grand lodge to the site of the new building and played during the laying of the corner stone. The appearance of President Roosevelt and Speaker Cannon on the platform was the signal for hearty cheers from the crowd. The official program began with the invocation by the Right Rev. Dr. Satterlee, Bishop of Washington. Walter A. Brown, the grand master of the District of Columbia, who presided, then delivered the opening remarks. An address by Speaker Cannon suitable to the occasion followed and then Grand Master Brown handed a trowel to President Roosevelt, who spread the mortar and the stone was swung into place. Previously there had been placed in an iron box and deposited in the corner stone the Washington newspapers of this date, a number of coins and several other articles, the last conforming as nearly as possible to the articles placed in the foundation stone of the capitol building one hundred and thirteen years ago.

Building Needed. The building of which the corner stone was laid today is being constructed to provide the necessary office rooms for members of the house. It will relieve the congested condition in the house side of the capitol and will provide convenient and necessary quarters for representatives. The building will cover a whole square and face the plaza between the capitol and the library of congress. It will cost $4,000,000. The building will contain conference rooms and a large assembly hall, where caucuses may be held. A similar office

YOUNG MARQUIS OF ANGLESEY IS OF AGE

Famous Nobleman Attains Majority—Possesses Love of Princess Patricia.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] London, April 14.—Possessing the love of a royal princess and an income of $750,000 a year, to say nothing of an old and historic title of nobility, is the enviable distinction of the young Marquis of Anglesey, who reached his majority today. The young nobleman inherited the title a year or two ago on the death of his erratic uncle, the late Marquis of Anglesey, whose escapades and wild extravagance furnished columns of copy for the newspapers of London and Paris during his lifetime.

The young marquis has inherited some of the spendthrift proclivities of his uncle, and his admiration for "Billy" Burke, the actress, has evidenced an inclination on his part to follow in the footsteps of his predecessor. His intimate friends, however, declare that he is the right sort and that he is only showing a few wild oats.

The young marquis is thought well of in high quarters, for if reports are true he has been informed by the Duke of Connaught, brother of King Edward, that he (the Duke) would welcome him as a son-in-law. Princess Victoria Patricia of Connaught, so the story runs, became infatuated with the young Marquis of Anglesey, whom she met at Princess Ena of Battenberg's coming out ball last year. Princess Patricia and the marquis danced several dances at the ball, and Anglesey seemed delighted by the preference shown him. Princess Patricia's affection for the marquis being unmistakable, her family made most discreet overtures to him. But the marquis meanwhile had transferred his affections to another and he tried to extricate himself by intimating that he did not wish to occupy the nondescript position of a royal princess. The friendship has not been broken, however, and it is believed that when the Duke of Connaught arrives home from South Africa shortly the matter will again be taken up and the pining princess, who refused to become queen of Spain, may yet be happy as the Marchioness of Anglesey.

The federal grand jury in session in Topeka, Kan., adjourned after finding four indictments against four persons for illegal land fencing and seizures.

The piece was written, it is said, as a result of a wager made by Mrs. Leavitt with some friends that she could write a better piece than one which they were witnessing when the bet was made. Mrs. Leavitt has assisted in the selection of all the costumes and the properties for the piece and has also directed the rehearsals.

At an adjourned meeting of the executive committee of the Western Passenger association yesterday the question of a new form of interchangeable mileage was informally discussed. No definite action was taken, although several of the lines believe they can improve the present system. Traveling men have from time to time lodged complaints with the railroads against the present form of mileage, declaring that it results in tying up too much money before they are able to use it. They want the mileage books sold to them at the flat rate of 2 cents per mile, but the roads say that this is impossible, as it would put a premium upon scalping of the tickets.

Hostile Attitude of Huge Colored Bodyguard Made Action Necessary—Report of Settlement Denied.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chicago, April 14.—Attorney Wetten today issued a statement to the effect that the report of a compromise of the Zion City troubles would be reached on the basis of a payment of five per cent of the gross assets of Zion City to John Alexander Dowie was untrue, and Wetten declared that no such proposition had been made to Dowie. There is only another voting day left, but it is going to be such a voting day as Rock county has never known in any previous campaign and it is going to bring out such a rallying of their friends to those who are bearing the "brunt of the fray" as will make it one long to be remembered. If anyone had predicted when the campaign for the Gazette trophies was inaugurated five weeks ago, that before its close the attention of the entire county would be focused upon it, that the votes would be pouring in by the thousands and that the candidates and their friends would be driving over every portion of the county in a keen though friendly rivalry for the honors it is not very probable that his prediction would have been given much consideration. And yet all this is just what has come to pass.

From the first the intrinsic value of the trophies has never been thought of, either by the candidates themselves or those who are "boosting" them. They know they are beautiful diamonds and that the banners are equally beautiful, but this is a secondary matter. It is the winning of the race that is first in the minds of everyone now.

There can hardly be any further doubt that the grand total is going to be fully four hundred thousand and it may be far in excess of this.

The following shows the results of the registration figures for today and Monday. If these show a proportionate gain in keeping with that of each day of the last week it may go as high as the half-million mark, though this seems hardly possible.

There has been so much conjecture as to the outcome and everyone has their own opinion that it may not be amiss to assure the voters that the bulletin defines the issues. In other words, there are no "dark horses" so far as can be learned, and there is no likelihood that one will figure in the balloting at all.

It is understood furthermore that Miss Burrington's illness has forced the retirement of the Milton Junction candidates and that Evansville is no longer a factor in the race is also authoritatively stated. So it may be concluded that the struggle on Monday is to revolve around Miss Wills, Mrs. Spicer, Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Dunwiddle and Miss Conroy for the ladies and Messrs. Connors, Smith, Hemmens and Nichols for the gentlemen. From among those named the winners are to come so far as can now be foreseen—and the thousands of votes which each have received tell more convincingly than it could be told in any other way how many friends will rejoice with them in the event of their success.

Finally on the eve of the election the Gazette would reiterate the pride which is felt in the fact that so many have been named for the trophies who are worthy in the highest sense of the best that their friends could vote them. The only regret now is that some must go down to defeat, even in the face of such generous and unflinching support as they have received; but at least this much will be assured to all alike. The knowledge that they have many sincere friends whose friendship is more to be prized than any other consideration and the satisfaction of knowing that every vote which tells for or against them has been rightfully and impartially counted so far as they almost care could guarantee that again.

Mrs. Mason goes up to first place today through the eight thousand votes that were polled for her yesterday and Mr. Connors crossed the fifty-thousand line with over three thousand to spare. The race between Mrs. Mason, Miss Wills and Mrs. Spicer is a remarkably close one when the number of votes involved is taken into account, but the reserve vote held by either Mrs. Dunwiddle or Miss Conroy would probably show that they are equally to be reckoned with. Mr. Connors has secured a big plurality, but there are friends of each of his rivals who say the race is not run yet and that only the final count will decide. There are only two things now to remember. The polls close on Monday night at eight o'clock and you have only one more day to register your certificates for those you believe should win.

REGULATIONS.

The voting in the Gazette Diamond Contest will be by ballot, clipped from regular issues of the Daily and Semi-Weekly Gazette and by voting certificates issued with subscription receipts to The Gazette.

Ballots clipped from The Gazette will count one vote each for the persons named thereon when voted in conformity with these regulations within one week of date of issue.

Voting certificates will bear no time limit and may be retained and voted at any time during the contest at the will of the holder. They will be issued with subscription receipts to the Daily and Semi-Weekly Gazette as provided by the following subscription table.

ever much it may be disguised, and it is dangerous in the extreme.

What the nation needs is a year or two, or hard times, to bring people to their senses. Too much prosperity is as bad for the republic as for the individual. The age is feverish with speculation and unrest, and we are possessed with a made desire to get rich quick and envious of the men who have accumulated by slow and well tried methods. It is time to call a halt and take account of our stock of common sense. The asset will be found to be extremely light in many cases.

PRESS COMMENT.

To All But Imaginary Rich.
Monroe Journal: Strawberries at one cent per berry are luxuries to all except owners of lead mining stock.

Here's a Profound One
Milwaukee News: Denouncing the men with the muck rake, however, will not make the muck smell any the sweeter.

Blame The Poor King.
Milwaukee Sentinel: It seems a little unreasonable, but Italian peasants are disposed to censure the king for not keeping the lid on Vesuvius.

Speak No Ill Of Your City!
Fond du Lac Bulletin: The man who will say an evil word against his city is not entitled to be respected by the citizens of that municipality.

Case of Dodge or Die.
Exchange: According to one shrewd observer, the automobile has divided the whole world into just two classes—the quick and the dead.

Graft-Ridden Green Bay.
Sheboygan Journal: Green Bay can claim another distinction over Milwaukee. The recent disclosures of graft there makes Milwaukee like a cheap retail center.

A Dawning Suspicion.
Neenah Times: It begins to look as though this terrible racket in the Dowie camp is only a huge free advertising dodge to draw attention to Zion and perhaps gain converts and cash.

So Say The Experienced.
Oshkosh Northwestern: The Sheboygan Journal maintains that it is good advertising for any live place to maintain baseball and basketball teams. Sometimes, however, it is rather expensive advertising.

No Getting Away From Him.
La Crosse Chronicle: You can't hurt a lucky man. Just as electricity and gas started to cut off the use of kerosene the auto came along and boosted the demand for gasoline. Rockefeller wins anyway.

Ninety-Six Miles An Hour.
Chicago Record-Herald: A New York-Chicago train ran at the rate of ninety-six miles an hour through Ohio the other night. We call the attention of the people of New York to the fact that the train was headed toward this city.

The Kaiser's Little Concession.
El Paso Herald: Germany feels as if she had suddenly advanced some fifty years in progress and freedom since the kaiser graciously ordered that caricaturists were to be allowed to cartoon his most sacred majesty, provided they did it very gently and loyally. Small concessions win great thanks from the Germans.

Northern Newspaper Levity.
Marquette Eagle-Star: The Oconto Enterprise very kindly explains for its readers that a statement made by it in a former issue, that a hack full of flowers adorned a casket at a funeral, was a mistake, and says only the flowers were used in the service at the grave. It is well to have such misunderstandings corrected, as it might be difficult for some people to appreciate having a hack, even if filled with flowers, ornamenting a coffin.

Observations On The Turbine.
Evening Wisconsin: The startling story by a naval engineer that broken vanes were taken from the turbine cylinder of a transatlantic steamer, "by the bucketful," may not be altogether without foundation. The earlier turbines were made with the vanes bristling from the shaft "like quills upon a fretful porcupine," and the vanes sometimes expanded and by touching the shell of the cylinder became broken; but later turbines have their vanes bound at their outer ends by a protecting ring that holds them with united strength. The turbine engine is in process of development while it is in use in response to a demand for it.

Dollar's Travels Point a Lesson.
Fond du Lac Reporter: The Reporter dollar has ended its travels. It came back to The Reporter office for the second time, on Tuesday afternoon. The dollar was sent out two weeks ago to prove that a dollar spent at home would sooner or later return to the original spender. In that two weeks it changed hands thirty times and did about twenty dollars' worth of business, not having been added PRESS COMMENT expended for its full value every time it changed owners, change being given for the difference. In that time it returned to the same place eight times, twice to Hope's twice to Gruenheck's, twice to Breister's and twice to The Reporter office. The Reporter is very well satisfied with its experiment and hopes the lesson of the dollar will be taken to heart by every loyal citizen of Fond du Lac.

and said that a line of distinction should be made between the honest rich man and the man who gained his wealth by evil practices. He advocated a progressive tax on all fortunes beyond a certain amount, curtailing the possibility of these rich men handling their wealth beyond a certain amount to any one individual. The tax advocated to be imposed by national, not state, government. In touching upon the possible exercise of supervision of large corporations, President Roosevelt made reference to the pending railroad rate legislation which he considered, if framed in a proper manner, to be a step in this direction. He did not believe this superintendence should be controlled with a spirit of malevolence toward the men who have created the wealth, but with the firm purpose of both doing justice to them and to see that they in their turn do justice to the public at large.

Honesty Essential.
The President said: "The first requisite in the public servants who are to deal in this shape with corporations, whether as legislators or as executives, is honesty. This honesty can be no respecter of persons. There can be no such thing as unilateral honesty. The danger is not really from corrupt corporations; it springs from the corruption itself, whether exercised for or against corporations. The eighth commandment reads, 'Thou shalt not steal.' It does not read, 'Thou shalt not steal from the rich man.' It does not read, 'Thou shalt not steal from the poor man.' It reads simply and plainly, 'Thou shalt not steal.' No good whatever will come from that warped and mock morality which denounces the misdeeds of men of wealth and forgets the misdeeds practiced at their expense; which denounces bribery, but blinds itself to blackmail; which foams with rage if a corporation secures favors by improper methods, and merely lingers with hideous mirth if the corporation is itself wronged. The only public servant who can be trusted honestly to protect the rights of the public against the misdeeds of a corporation is that public man who will just as surely protect the corporation itself from wrongful aggression. If a public man is willing to yield to popular clamor and do wrong to the men of wealth or to rich corporations, it may be set down as certain that if the opportunity comes he will sacrifice and furiously do wrong to the public in the interest of a corporation.

Need Sanity Also.
"But in addition to honesty, we need sanity. No honesty will make a public man useful if that man is timid or foolish, if he is a hot-headed zealot or an impracticable visionary. As we strive for reform, we find that it is not at all merely the ease of a long uphill pull. On the contrary, there is almost as much of breaching work as of collar work; to depend only on traces means that there will soon be a runaway and an upset. The men of wealth who today are trying to prevent the regulation and control of their business in the interest of the public by the proper government authorities will not succeed, in my judgment, in checking the progress of the movement. But if they did succeed they would find that they had sown the wind and would surely reap the whirlwind, for they would ultimately provoke the violent excesses which accompany a reform coming by convulsion instead of by steady and natural growth.

Unrest and Discontent.
"On the other hand, the wild preachers of unrest and discontent, the wild agitators against the entire existing order, the men who act crookedly, whether because of sinister design or from mere puzzle-headedness, the men who preach destruction without proposing any substitute for what they intend to destroy, or who propose a substitute which would be far worse than the existing evils—all these men are the most dangerous opponents of real reform. If they get their way they will lead the people into a deeper pit than any into which they could fall under the present system. If they fail to get their way they will still do incalculable harm by provoking the kind of reaction which in its revolt against the senseless evil of their teaching, would overthrow more securely than ever the very evils which their misguided fol-

WALTER GREGORY LOST FINGER IN CAR COUPLER

Accident Happened At Rockton—Worked To Janesville Before Visiting Surgeon.

While switching at Rockton this morning, Walter Gregory of this city, a brakeman on the St. Paul road, lost a portion of the little finger on the left hand. He was endeavoring to adjust a coupler which had failed to work when two cars were "kicked down." He failed to see them coming until it was too late and his hand was caught between the two draft-irons. The end of one finger was badly lacerated and the others pinched and had it not been for a heavy glove which he wore no doubt the results would have been more serious. He worked to this city before visiting a surgeon. Dr. Pembor found it necessary to amputate the major portion of the last joint.

TERRIBLE WRECK JUST PREVENTED BY AIR BRAKES

Train from Mineral Point Brought to Sudden Halt When Traveling Sixty-five Miles an Hour.
Quick application of the air-brakes on the train coming in from Mineral Point about five o'clock last evening and a sudden speeding up of a lone engine traveling up the tracks just prevented a terrible wreck in the local yards of the St. Paul railway company last evening. A freight pulled into the new yards over the Southern line and the engine when detached was sent to the roundhouse up the Mineral Point main track, the others being filled and it being past the time for the passenger from the Point which is scheduled to arrive at 4:45. This was late, however, and just as the freight engine pulled on the main line the passenger came around the curve and through the cut at a rate very likely near to sixty-five miles an hour. Both engineers saw the danger and acted accordingly. Scarcely on the freight engine put on all speed and hastened out of the way, while Henry Johnson on the passenger put on air-brakes and sand, bringing his train to a sudden halt. On the freight engine was Brakeman Otto Campbell of this city and a fireman from Chicago. On the passenger train, besides a large number of passengers and the crew, composed of local men, were several officials of the road—Mr. Lass, Superintendent of the Maintenance of Ways, and his assistants.

Other Lines
The Ohio lines will ignore the action of the Ann Arbor and Detroit, Toledo & Ironton roads in recognizing the 2 cent law in interstate business. The Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton has signified its intention of using the 2 cent rate on interstate business if the other lines will use the proffered fare for basing purposes. Such action by the connecting lines is not probable.

LEAGUE CONTEST WON BY ERMA SHOEMAKER

Janesville Young Lady Captured First Honors, Again at Evansville Last Evening.

First honors in the league declamatory contest at Evansville last evening were captured by Miss Erma Shoemaker of this city, who was also the winner last year. The contest took place at McGee's opera-house, representatives of Janesville, Beloit, Whitewater, and Evansville participating. Erwin Meyers of Evansville was awarded second place by the judges. Miss Florence Spooner of Janesville was one of the speakers and gave a very creditable account of herself, though failing to win a place. A delegation of about 75 from this city attended the contest and after the decision was announced the news was carried to all Evansville by classic yells intoned through megaphones, mingled with blasts from tin horns and other sounds of jubilation. Miss Shoemaker will represent the league in the district contest to be held at Whitewater on May 4. The winner on that occasion will represent the district in the state contest.

MAN WITH A BROKEN BACK AT POOR FARM

Albert Nuse of Chicago, Has Lived Two Years by Means of a Steel Corset.

Beloit's poor officer has sent to the county house a man named Albert Nuse, who, it is claimed, is suffering with a broken back. Nuse was kicked by a horse while at work in a Chicago livery stable two years ago and sustained a fractured spine. He was taken to the Cook county hospital where the physicians pronounced his case hopeless. All the same they had rigged for him a steel corset which holds his body rigid and the broken sections of the spine in place. The proprietors of the livery stable paid for Nuse's care in the Cook county hospital for two years and then wearied of their obligation. So he was turned out and wandered to Beloit, where he fell into the hands of the obliging poor officer, Supt. Kilham, who says that the man is not entitled to lodging and treatment here and will have to find it elsewhere.

He had been at the farm ten years and was formerly well known here. The latter died at nine. He was about sixty years of age and since being at the farm, five years, has been a constant sufferer with asthma.

Washington's Good Advice. Washington, advised his stepson, who was engaged to be married, "to apply himself closely to his studies, by which he will, in a great measure, avoid those little flirtations with other young ladies, that may, by diverting the attention, contribute not a little to divide the affection." Such sound advice does not float around much these days.

EACH WARD TO HAVE A WALK INSPECTOR

Under the New Ordinance Which Alderman Merritt Has in Preparation.

Alderman W. H. Merritt has in preparation an ordinance providing for five ward inspectors to attend to the highways and sidewalks, under the supervision of the street commissioner. The plan contemplated is to have these men not only superintend the work in their respective wards but assist in the manual labor of repairing the walks and streets. Each inspector will be held personally responsible for the conditions in his locality and when disputes arise it will be his duty to report to the aldermen of that ward. The present offices of sidewalk inspector and weed commissioner will be abolished. It is not believed that the expense will be any greater under the new regime than it was under the old and the work, it is contended, will be done in a much more satisfactory manner.

FOOTLIGHT FLASHES

At the West Side for the past three days a variety show of much worth has been presented. It takes a pretty strenuous performance to awaken a Jamesville audience. But the talent who close tonight have succeeded in winning the hearty applause of every audience they have shown to. And tonight the standing room sign will undoubtedly be displayed by the eight o'clock hour. On Monday next the great and only Santelli will hold the boards at this house. This wonderful man of strength is known to be the finest specimen of manhood in the world today. Performing his many marvelous feats of superhuman strength he will undoubtedly prove a drawing card equal to John L. Sullivan. Duke Jaxome and Co. will present their very funny comedy sketch which has been heartily received in all the houses they have shown in. Mohler and Baxter, known as the new boys, both have refined voices and are dancers out of the ordinary. Joe Allman, of minstrel fame, is the best of his kind in the business. George Hatch will sing "Will I Find My Mama There?" and "When the Orioles Meet Again." The motion picture is a feature being "Moving Day or the Children Aligned." With talent of this kind the patrons will undoubtedly see one of the best bills ever put on in this house.

The troupe of horses coming to the Myers Grand Monday includes seven horses of all nationalities, ten ponies ranging in size down to thirty inches—fancy, just about the height of a table—and the comical element is well represented by two donkeys and a most amusing mule. The individual and combined acts of the horses are accredited as showing an intelligence far superior to the hackneyed circus, Wild West or vaudeville class. Nothing like this show of world wide reputation has ever been presented here before.

The Mails.—We presume that some of the mail agents will excuse themselves of any delinquencies that they are guilty of for the next year, by pleading the interruption caused by the late flood. It is now impossible to get a paper or letter through from Madison in any decent season. The April freshet will last for an apology until the next great snow storm.

The dams above us should suddenly give away and discharge a large quantity of water upon us. The river here has not been as high in ten years.

The provost marshal general has completed a careful compilation from the muster rolls of all the deaths in battle, from wounds, and from diseases, in every regiment and every loyal state during the war. It appears that 280,793 officers and men have lost their lives in the services. Of the number 5,251 commissioned officers and 90,886 men have been killed in action, or died of wounds, while 2,321 commissioned officers and 182,329 enlisted men died of disease.

The Weather and the Water.—The weather continues dry and pleasant, and the water in the river which has threatened destruction for the past week, is now gradually falling. The danger of the dam and the race is evidently past, unless some one of

PRISON FOR CONTRACTORS

Judge Speer at Savannah, Ga., Fines Each $575,549.90, Which, However, Can Be Evaded.

Savannah, Ga., April 14.—Judge Speer in the United States court Friday sentenced Greene and Gaynor each to a term of four years in the penitentiary and to a fine of $575,549.90, the amount each charged with having fraudulently obtained from the United States government. There was a large crowd in court. The defendants may be relieved of the fine by making oath that they are possessed of no more than $20.

At 11 o'clock the prisoners were brought into court. Judge Speer asked the counsel for the defense if they had anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced. Col. P. W. Meldrum answered in the negative, whereupon the court imposed sentence. Each defendant had been found guilty upon all the counts of three indictments charging conspiracy, embezzlement and presenting false claims. The sentence upon the three indictments were respectively two, four and four years, but the court ordered that these terms run concurrently, so that the sentence was really for four years. Imprisonment is to be in the federal prison at Atlanta.

The defense will file a bill of exceptions, and they asked for an order of court extending to 30 days, the time permitted counsel for preparing this bill, which will be very voluminous, and that the order act as a supersedeas.

DR. KING'S NEW DISCOVERY

FOR THROAT AND LUNGS

Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a Cause Cure—not a Symptom Cure.

It is a common mistake to take artificial stimulants for stomach troubles or heart stimulants for weak heart or to take kidney remedies for diseased kidneys. These organs do not act separately or of their own accord—they have no control over themselves—and not once in 500 years is the system the least out of order. It is the fault of the nerves which control the organs, and only through these nerves can stomach, kidney or heart disease be cured. Dr. Shoop's Restorative, a scientific preparation early in his medical career, through them were the power restored to the system. It is a powerful stimulant to the nervous system, and it is the only one of its kind. It is the only one of its kind. It is the only one of its kind. It is the only one of its kind.

HAMLIN GARLAND

COPYRIGHT, 1905, BY HAMLIN GARLAND

His voice trembled dangerously, and he was forced to stop.

The tension was eased away by Nary, one of the older men, who broke out with deep lunged profanity in order to conceal his good heart.

"Well, I don't know how the rest of you feel, but I want to turn right in and put this mine into shape again and lynch the dogs that blew us up!"

Raymond lifted his hand. "Hold on, boys. Don't be too quick on the trigger. Keep cool till I ride up on the hill and take a look around and have a little talk with Munro. We must rally all the independents, which will take time, and, besides, you must remember I have a very sick boy on my hands, and there is Baker, who needs care. Don't rush. Let me go up and see what the sheriff seems likely to do. As I've told you before, I've no theory about the labor question. I never was up against it before, and I'm a little uncertain. I've always believed in the best man winning. I picked up my fellows because you were likely chaps. I'm paying you the highest wages going because you earn it. You're satisfied, you say, and I don't see why we are not privileged to go ahead in our own way. I haven't felt any need of going into this fight for the benefit of the crowd till now. It looks now as though we should take a hand. Anyhow, we'll give Munro another chance to do us justice, and if he don't, then—well, we'll try some other plan." He shook off this disagreeable cloak of doubt. "But be that as it may, boys, I shall never forget the good work you've done for me when you knew the crowd was against you."

As they stepped out into the warm afternoon sun, Kelly, with a jocular note in his voice, remarked, "Well, Robbie, we're gents at leisure. Nothing to do now but play the nurse—here his voice swiftly changed—"or do battle."

"If it were not for the women and the sick I'd fight. We have nothing to lose now, and the boys are hot for it. Have you been up the street?"

"No, I have not."

"I don't see what we can do with these two wounded men and the boy and the women on our hands. Matt, the real heart of this opposition is now in one man. If he were taken away these rowdy miners would scatter like grouse."

Kelly turned quickly. "You mean Munro?"

"I do! I'm going up to have an interview with him."

Kelly laid a big hand on his arm. "You're taking a big risk. Let me go instead."

"No, you must stay here. I am going, and I am going unarmed. I am safer with empty hands, Matt. They will not shoot an unarmed man. I'm going to make one more appeal to Munro."

Mounting his horse, Raymond rode rapidly out along the ridge toward the hill, on which the fortification stood. He passed now and then a group of men who knew him, and while some greeted him pleasantly all the others met his glance with menace. He felt the hot breath of their hate, but passed on without haste, regretting his action in leaving his revolver behind him.

The camp had eaten its midday meal—for even in times of war men must eat; the miners had hastily devoured their rough food and were swarming on the hillside overlooking the sheriff's encampment. The vedettes were bivouacked in a small grove of firs to the left and a little below the fort (which was merely a log corral banked with dirt), and Munro was directing the shovel brigade at work on the walls of the redoubt, which was growing rapidly under the brisk movement of chat-arm, and Munro, spurring his horse into the mass of irresolute men, called out: "Brook, I'll kill you if you shoot—this is a friend of mine—you know that! He's stood out against us all along; but he's been on the square. I sent him to the Springs myself."

"Liar!" shouted Raymond.

Brook wiped the blood from his lips. "Maybe you asked him to wire the sheriff last night. He admits he sent a messenger to warn him."

Cries of frenzied rage broke forth again, and the crowd surged against the two horses. Furious, throaty cries broke forth.

"Kill him!" "Hang him!"

Munro blew a signal to his men, and his voice rang out clear and sharp. "The first man that reaches a hand out of that circle loses it. If any lynching is done, I provide over it. Dan, come in here—you, too, Cook."

The two cowboys spurred their horses into the circle, and the four armed and resolute men faced the angry mob and held it at bay. Raymond, even in this hour of danger, regretted Munro's assistance; it put him under an obligation which weakened him. With his mind filled with conflicting considerations, he waited while the swift clatter of a hundred hoofs drew near and a squad of Munro's picked men surrounded their captain.

When they were clear of danger Raymond drew rein toward Munro. "You saved my scalp today, and I'm grateful; that's why I don't want to see you in the hands of the sheriff. I want you to pull out this minute. Come, now, this is the last appeal. Fly the coop. If you don't, there'll hang you."

"I suffered intense pain, caused by neuralgia. I doctored and used various medicines without getting relief until I began taking Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. They did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They never fail to cure me, and they never leave any bad after-effects."

Denver, Col., April 14.—Independent commission houses to be owned and operated by the growers of live stock will be established at Kansas City, South Omaha, St. Joseph and Chicago by the National Live Stock Growers' association and the American National Live Stock association. The plan includes the formation of a cooperative commission company with a capital stock of $100,000. A committee will visit the cities to study conditions and report to the executive committee of various live stock associations to meet in this city May 15.

English in the Lead. Owing to the rapid growth of the United States, the English language is now spoken by more persons than use any other civilized tongue. To-day 130,000,000 people speak English, 100,000,000 speak Russian (for not all the people of the empire talk the national tongue), 75,000,000 use German, 70,000,000 employ Spanish, including the inhabitants of the Latin-American countries, and 40,000,000 speak French.

DOG THAT WAS A SMUGGLER

Earned for His Master, But Was Discovered and Killed at His Work.

The official organ of the Belgian customs department mentions the death of a notorious smuggler's dog which earned for his master a modest competence. The latter at first made frequent innocent trips with his big, rough-coated companion across the frontier, until the customs officers had become quite friendly with him. Then his time for action came. He shaved the dog, wound Brussels and Mechlin lace tightly round its body, and put over this skin closely resembling the dog's own. For five years the dog almost daily trotted with a valuable hidden burden of lace across the border into French territory, and probably the fraud would still be merrily going on had not a "friend" betrayed the secret. The faithful dog came to an untimely end by a revolver bullet. Dogs are often used, it appears, to run with dutiable goods across the Franco-Belgian frontier. This they are taught to do by a course of training which includes sound thrashings at regular intervals by men-dressed as customs officials, so that the poor animals run away terror-stricken from the sight of a uniform.

Liquid Crystals.

When the discovery of liquid crystals was announced some 15 years ago by Prof. Lehmann, many men of science were very skeptical on the subject, and thought that some error must have been made by the discoverer. It was pointed out that the very name "liquid crystal" was self-contradictory. More recently, however, Prof. Lehmann, associated with Dr. Scheenck, has continued and extended the study of these strange phenomena, the genuineness of which they seem to have established, although the molecular structure of the peculiar liquids experimented with is not clearly understood. The facts appear to be that certain chemical liquids at particular temperatures exhibit the characteristic crystalline properties of double refraction and dichroism. But exceedingly small disturbing forces suffice to deform the liquid crystals, owing to their slight rigidity.

Russian Submersible Boats.

From Kronstadt to Libau is a distance of 560 miles, and the performance of a Russian submersible between those places is described as remarkable. The trials included a deep-water submergence nine miles out in the Baltic, where the boat went down to a depth of 126 feet and remained there for half an hour, during which time luncheon was served in the living quarters.

CRUSTS MADE PLUMP CHEEKS.

Elderly Lady's Useful Substitute for False Teeth.

A young man and his best girl, evidently from the country, had just finished sitting for their "engagement picture" after a lengthy discussion with the Knight of the Camera as to the best position to assume. After they had gone the photographer made some smiling comment about country patrons in general and added: "I think the funniest experience I ever had was with an old lady of 70 years. She wanted a good-looking picture, because she'd got it into her head she wasn't going to live long and she wanted all her relatives unto her third and fourth cousin to have something by which to remember her. She couldn't bring herself to buy a set of false teeth, however, and her mouth fell in woefully without them. "I was despairing of making an attractive picture of her, when she suddenly produced some crusts of bread from her handbag and stuffed them into her mouth. When she'd put in enough to make her lips and cheeks fill out she explained, to me rather thickly that the crusts would do just as well as false teeth. And the strangest thing was that they did do very well and I got a good picture."—New York Press.
